Latitude 33 promotes associate principal

Nicholas J. Psychogios

By Alexandra Applegate

Latitude 33 Planning & Engineering, an engineering consulting firm, promoted Nicholas J. Psychogios as its newest principal on July 8.

As principal, Psychogios will continue to diversify Latitude 33's portfolio of residential work, growing the firm's pool of talent and improving the firm's quality assurance by implementing a standard practice of plan preparation. He also will continue to oversee and mentor a team of eight staff members for the firm's engineering needs.

Psychogios joined Latitude 33 in March 2018 as associate principal. Before that, he served as the senior project manager at Fuscoe Engineering Inc. He brings more than 20 years of experience with residential, commercial, utility, wetland restoration and public sector projects to his new role.

He holds a Bachelor of Science in engineering from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.
